

Project Accelerator.

Companies invest valuable time and money into year-long IT projects and training of internal development staff. As software and skills become antiquated, businesses face the issue of either converting existing software or developing new software. This can be both costly and time consuming.

Harpoon Technologies recognizes the importance of your long-term initiatives. By helping companies get up-to-date on current technology, they can effectively leverage staff, knowledge, and open source solutions, eliminating the use of old technology, unnecessary support fees, and making costly mistakes.

We offer expert training over the course of 2-3 weeks. Unlike other service providers, our consultant remains onboard to assist with the architecture, estimates, and development of the project, until completion. After implementation, your development staff will have the skills and knowledge to maintain and develop new projects using open source technology.

“ACCELERATOR” SERVICES

Harpoon Technologies is well positioned to provide a unique and comprehensive portfolio of services that allows businesses to leverage open source software, transforming it to align with your business needs and objectives.

- Onsite support through project completion
- Tailor training towards IT needs
- Minimize lag-time between training and project kickoff
- Ensure correct deployment with onsite assistance
- Guarantee prompt answers for development staff onsite
- Tackle issues putting the focus back on training
- Reduce risk enabling better project success rates
